And on those relatively few occasions when a moderate blow and rain-laden factual and accurate newscasting as clouds are in the offing, many of the well as eliminate needless apprehension brethren of the metropolitan press are wont to dust off box car size type and blossom out with heavy black banner would obligingly refrain from overlines proclaiming the otherwise omin- working of the word "storm" as applied ous announcement "STORM AP-PROACHES."

Those who have lived in California for a considerable length of time have learned by experience that because of the almost always blue skies and seldom restricted clean sunshine which bless this Golden State, even a high thin cirrus overcast is likely to be referred to by weatherman broadcasters and the press as a storm-front, and that even though unqualified the word "storm" is used, the chances are that the actual expectation is scattered showers or light rain.

But not so with the new arrivals from other and much more turbulent regions. To them the big, black "STORM" headlines and dire sounding storm warnings by announcers revives the old homeland fear with visions of a destructive Florida hurricane, deadly Texas tornado, swirling Chicago blizzard, sweeping Ohio flood or paralyzing New York and New England snow storm.

The long time residents are well their very forecast becomes a news aware that even in winter actual rains are mostly few and far between. It would be much more in keeping with on the part of thousands of newly arrived visitors if the press as a whole to ordinary breezes and precipitation.

However, until someone coins a suitably short substitute for the convenience of the forecasters, announcers and headwriters, the next best thing is to quickly educate newcomers to the fact that the word "storm," as commonly used in relation to California's mild and moderate climate, holds none of the meaning of raging fury, tempestuous terrors and wild destruction by the elements with which it is so often associated in meanings elsewhere.

A "storm" in California is welcomed as a phenomena of rare beauty and a bountiful provider of vast benefits through moistening the land, watering crops and vegetation, and furnishing mountain snows for future run-offs. That is why residents universally greet each of these "blessed events" bringing liquid refreshment from the heavens above, with such pronounced and genuine rejoicing. I wish they could send some-body out and see my income.

THE MAIN DROP in my income comes from having an ed-ucated child. My child is now 15 and has retired from a promis-ing career as a baby-sitter. She has retired to boarding school.

I ENCOURAGED the baby-sitting business. Because I kept reading in the papers what a lot of future there was in it.

IN NEARLY ALL his books the ragged newsboy put his foot on the banker's poke (which had slipped out of his pocket in the snow). He put his foot on it and said: "Beg pardon, sir. You have dropped your tease." The banker then rewarded him and made him vice president in charge of

A dropped wallet here. Or a dropped hint there on how the

But suddenly my child got this education urge. And she went off to school. And the whole business went to pot. Not a teapot, either. So, back to the old typewriter.

DEAR ABBY: Am I foolish for accepting an engagement ring from a fellow who came right out and admitted that it was the same ring he gave a girl two years ago? He said they agreed to break the engagement and that was all. I didn't ask any questions because I figured it was none of my business. Christian Science: The Healing Comforter of Los Angeles, is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston,

It gives me great pleasure to present Mr. Glendon."

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

The Apostle James wrote (5:14, 15), "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the in the name of the Lord: and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him." Are there some among this audience tonight who given him." Are there some among this audience tonight who are yearning for such comfort and healing as James promised? Do you find it difficult to believe that such a promise can be fulfilled in your behalf today? I am sure there are those here who can testify that they have experienced such healing and reformation, and it is our purpose to show you how this is accomplished, to make it possible for you to be healed and comforted during this very hour.

Where shall we turn to find this healing power and the way to such effective prayer as the elders of James' day understood? To the Bible, of course, for here in these precious pages is to be found a record of the loving, intelligent ministration of the early prophets, as well as of Jesus and his followers, and of its marvelous results.

Jesus knew it was the Christ, his spiritual understanding of God, that enabled him to do such mighty works. He devoted his ministry and sacrificed his human life in the effort to teach others this wonderful truth that saves, heals, and comforts. Jesus is our example, our Wayshower; so it is important that we understand, as he did, that the truth he knew, and not his human personality, was the source of his great power. Mary Baker Eddy, in her book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," makes this clear in the following statement (p. 473): "Christ is the ideal Truth, that comes to heal sickness and sin through Christian Science, and attributes all power to God. Jesus is the name of the man who, more than all other men, has presented Christ, the true idea of God, healing the sick and the sinning and destroying the power of death. Jesus is the

to keep his commandments and they pleaded to know how they might follow him, he urged them to keep his commandments and said (John 14:16). "I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever." To emphasize the fact that they must not limit the Christ-power to the personal presence of Jesus, he said (John 16:7, 14), "It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you to till depart, I will send him unto you. . . He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you."

For about three hundred years after Jesus' crucifixion his followers, obedient to his teachings, healed the sick and the sinning. Then the Roman Emperor, Constantine, stopped the persecution of the Christian Church. As a result, creed and ritual soon took the place of Christlike living, and during the so-called "Dark Ages" that followed, the power to heal the sick through prayer practically disappeared from the teachings and practice of the Church.

of their darkness, and many new doctrines of human origin were exploited. In this period, in 1866, a humble New England woman, a devoted student of Christ Jesus' life and teachings. Christ Jesus' life and teachings, lay on what her doctor had called her deathbed, while her grieving friends waited for the end in the next room. She asked for her Bible and turned to the account of Jesus' healing of the palsied man as given in the ninth chapter of Matthew. As she read the familiar story she suderly caught a glimpse of the

The Discoverer

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science and the Leader of the Christian Science and the Leader of the Christian Science movement, came from a devoutly religious family. From early childhood she proved to be exceptionally spiritual in her thinking, and many incidents are related which reveal the deep and Christly affection this little girl felt for every living thing. The following experience led her Godfearing mother to realize that little Mary was destined to fulfills some great spiritual mission. The child, on several occasions, ran to her mother, supposedly in answer to her call. In each instance it was evident that no human being had called. The mother, much impressed, then gently read her the story from the Bible of the boy Samuel and how God had called his name. She told her daughter to answer as he did if she heard the call came Mary was too frightened to answer, but when it came again she answered in Samuel's words, "Speak, Lord; for thy servant heareth" (I Sam. 3:10). This experience was not repeated again, but she proved to be her Lord's servant during the remainder of her life, responding loyally to every direction of Principle, however rugged the way.

Mrs. Eddy spent her young Mrs. Eddy spent her young womanhood in very delicate health and sought unsuccessfully for healing from many forms of materia medica. Hers was a path of opposition and hardship, but she persisted in her unrelenting search for Truth until it was revealed to her in the healing already related. From that time on she experienced better health than she had known before. This healing, together with her subsequent earnest study of the Scriptures, brought her the full revelation of the Science of healing as practiced by Christ Jesus. She named her discovery Christian Science. As her understanding grew she put it to the test of actual practice, with remarkable results, in many instances able results, in many instances raising even the dying to life and health.

Her loving desire to bring the fruit of this great revelation to all mankind led her to write the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." The first edition of this book was published in 1875, and after these many years it is in constant demand. It is read, in conjunction with the King James Version of the Bible, in all Christian Science church James Version of the Disk, in all Christian Science church services and daily in Christian Science homes. In this volume, which is truly a key to the treasures of the Bible, she has set forth the full, and final, revelations of the second the second that the second tha

Clear evidence that Mrs. Eddy fulfilled this requirement is seen in her establishment of the vast organization of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, which now has more than three thousand branches throughout the world. She established The Christian Science Publishing Society, responsible for publication of The Christian Science Publishing Society, responsible for publication of The Christian Science Futiles, issued weekly; and The Herald of Christian Science, printed in a number of foreign languages. These periodicals include helpful articles on Christian Science and verified testimonies of healing. Also published by the Publishing Society is the Christian Science quarterly, which contains the outlines for the Bible Lessons read each Sunday in Churches of read each Sunday in Churches of Christ, Scientist, and the inter-

of materialism to glimpse more than the faintest beams of spiritual light. However, late in the inneteenth century a great upheaval of thought took place as men strove to find the way out of their darkness, and many new doctrines of human origin were exploited. Yes, Divine Science, the healing Comforter, has come, and its teachings are easily available through the many avenues just described. It will teach you to find and experience the harmony that is your birthright, for it will teach you how to pray as Jesus prayed. Significantly, the first chapter in Science and Health is on Prayer, and many are the persons who have found healing in studying this chapter and following its teaching.

Through such study, one gains a clearer understanding of the spiritual concept of God, man, and the universe, a concept quite the opposite of that presented by the physical senses. He learns that God, Spirit, being wholly good, His creation, including man, is spiritual and wholly good. Thus when confronted with the evidence of discord of any nature the student does not blindly beg God to remove or heal it. Instead he resorts to scientific prayer. Acknowledging God's goodness and the fact that His creation must be eternally Godlike, he realizes that the evidence of discord, sickness, or sin cannot be true, but is a mistaken sense of things. He then sets himself to deny all evidence of inharmony and to affirm the truth, or spiritual facts of the case. As this mental process is persisted in, the error is displaced from thought and the true state of things is manifested to human consciousness. The fact that this correction of thought results in the healing of disease and all other forms of discord proves that harmony is the natural state of man which has never been absent but only seems to be temporarily hidden from view by the erring sense of life in matter.

Such is the prayer taught by the Comforter.

God's Nature Revealed

God's Nature Revealed

I am sure that an audience sufficiently enlightened to want to hear a Christian Science lecture no longer thinks of God as a great, magnified, manlike being somewhere off in space. But how many are prepared to actually describe their concept of Him? Let us read Mrs. Eddy's definition of God in Science and Health (p. 587): "Gon. The great I am; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, alloving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance; intelligence."
Can you think of a more expressive name with which God could have identified Himself to Moses at the burning bush than "I AM"? Moses probably did not at first grasp the full significance of this statement, but it opened his thought to the truth suffiat first grasp the full significance of this statement, but it opened his thought to the truth sufficiently for him to be able to successfully lead Israel out of bondage. How grateful we should be that the Comforter came to Mrs. Eddy, enabling her to learn from the teachings and lives of Moses, the prophets, and Christ Jesus enough about the great "I AM" to be able to enlighten us as she does in this definition.

What burdens of false responsibility may be dropped when we realize that, as she states, God does all of the knowing, all of the seeing, all of the acting, and consequently man only reflects this divine knowing, seeing, and acting. It is clear that Jesus knew this, for he said (John 5: 20: 14:10). "If can of mire own though one were to circle around an object, taking pictures of it from all angles. Each picture would represent the object, but we should have to study all of the pictures to gain a complete concept of the object.

I do not hesitate to say to you I do not hesitate to say to you that if you will study this marvelous definition of God without prejudice, humbly accepting the facts as set forth, you will begin to comprehend something of the infinite nature of our creator. You will see that He is always and everywhere present, the creation must exist within, and be the product of, Spirit, God; and as nothing less than unlimand as nothing less than unlimited intelligence could possibly conceive, create, and govern the universe and man, you must agree that God is infinite Mind, including the universe in the form of spiritual ideas.

I assure you that as your concept of God is thus enlarged it will become clear to you that He is the very Life of all creation, the deathless Life of every one of us, the Soul which is infinite and so never confined within any of its ideas, but eternally re-universe must exist within Him. There is no place else to be. As the Apostle Paul wrote (Acts 17:28), "For in him we live, and move, and have our being." That which exists in Mind is idea, is the universe of God. Hence Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 475): "Man is idea, the image, of Love; he is not physique. He is the compound idea of God, including all right ideas." How does this highest idea of God, called man, have dominion over the rest of His ideas? He has it by reflection; that is, he manifests God's dominion.

Jesus said (John 5:30): "I can with the Godlike concept of all things, and the result is a healthier body and a more harmonious life. He is no longer a helpless victim of circumstances, but proves by degrees that man has dominion over all the earth.

Do you begin to see now how it is that as one understands more about God he knows more about God he knows more about himself? Surely, the man who conforms his thinking to this true sense of things gains dominion over inharmony of every sort. He learns that, instead of being a fleshly body with a limited mind, housed in a skull, man is the spiritual child of God, heir to all that is good, beautiful, and eternal. He is comforted and healed by the Comforter. His prayer becomes the prayer of gratitude.

Metaphysical Operation

I want to tell you how a friend of mine was healed of kidney tones through prayer based on his true concept of God and nan. This man, suffering violent this true concept of God and man. This man, suffering violent pain, was told by his doctor that he must submit to a surgical operation to remove the stones. Dreading the thought of surgery, he asked his wife, who is a Christian Sciencitist, if she thought Christian Science treatment would heal him. She assured him it would if he would fully co-operate with the practitioner. He agreed, and Christian Science treatment, or prayer, was undertaken at once. For several days he earnestly studied the weekly Christian Science Bible Lesson and selected citations in Science and Health while the practitioner prayed. Then, one morning, he reported happily to the practitioner. A large stone had passed from his body through the normal channels without pain or difficulty, although such a thing appeared utterly impossible. That was the end of the trouble.

Let's see how prayer was used to prefront his operation withof us, the Soul which is infinite and so never confined within any of its ideas, but eternally reflected by them.

If you will thoughtfully ponder the nature of God as revealed in this definition, you will begin to see why Mrs. Eddy reverently refers to Him as Father-Mother. You will see that He is

Unlimited Dominion

Unlimited Dominion

Now perhaps someone is wondering how to apply this vital power of scientific prayer to heal the sins of mankind and the many world problems which we know stem from these sins. Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 210), "Jesus healed sickness and sin by one and the same metaphysical process." So Christian Science heals hatred, passion, greed, lust, fear, false appetites by the same metaphysical process as that with which it conquers disease. Knowing that God gave man dominion over his entire creations.

de on the part of his im-liate superior. He knew that at he proposed doing in his ariment was necessary and what he proposed doing in his department was necessary and right, but this one man seemed determined to prevent all such action and was extremely unpleasant. As this unhappy condition continued, my friend became so frustrated and worried that he suffered the apparent return of an old problem of stomach ulcers. Finally, as matters grew steadily worse, he was on the verge of quitting his position in despair. However, he decided to first seek the help of a Christian Science practitioner.

The practitioner reminded him of his birthright of dominion and the fact that this entire experience was taking place nowhere but in his own thought. He was of his birthright of dominion and the fact that this entire experience was taking place nowhere but in his own thought. He was told that, if he were willing to deny the physical evidence of a discordant man and replace it with the realization that, because God is All, there could be nothing but His loving, intelligent presence, expressed everywhere, he would be relieved. It was pointed out that, as Jesus taught, he must love his neighbor as himself; that is, must see both himself and his neighbor as loving and lovable expressions of God. He was then told to study the weekly Christian Science Bible Lesson and was given this citation from Science and Health to study (p. 476): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

demonstrated by Jesus. This Science, or Christ, Truth, has been revealed to this age as Christian Science. Being Science, it can be understood and proved. By enabling us to better understand God, it renders our prayers effective. It reveals the true meaning of salvation as the destruction of sin, disease, and death through the understanding and demonstration of divine Life, Truth, and Love. It makes it possible for you, and me, to experience this glorious awakening today. As Mrs. Eddy so apply puts it in Science and Health (p. 230): "This awakening is the forever-coming of Christ, the advanced appearing of Truth, which casts out error and heals the sick. This is the salvation which comes through God, the divine Principle, Love, as demonstrated by Jesus," and (p. 39), "Now," cried the apostle, "is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation,"—meaning, not that now men must prepare for a future-world salvation, or safety, but that now is the time in which to experience that salvation in spirit and in life."

Yes, dear friends, Jesus' promise has been fulfilled. Christian
